A "Best You Can Be Foundation" award winner. "A unique teaching tool strengthens bonds between family members." Mary Hayashi, California State Assembly member. Designed to promote communication and emotional connectedness from a nurturing relationship, celebrating the transcendent bond between grandpas and their grandchildren. "A welcome addition for families, helping to bridge multi-generational gaps." Louise E. Glaser, MD, Pediatrician. Beautifully illustrated, features twelve simple pencil drawings. A work of art that communicates the reassurance of family love, a sense of well-being, and a sense of future. "A wonderful instrument to gently, yet powerfully, inspire children to think about Family." Chris Hoover, Teacher of the Year,

2004. In Grandpa's Hands will serve parents well in helping them teach young ones about the importance of the extended family.
