Tessa Morrison a sultry, young widow yearns to be truly loved again. Stabbing loneliness and self-imposed sexual deprivation have all driven her back onto the dating scene. So far her streak with men has been less than stellar. Her first lover comes home to her with the scent of another woman on his breath; a next lover, filled with jealousy, leaves her stranded at a birthday party. However, she soon finds her bearing. And after meeting a smart kindly seasoned woman, she decides to take a bold step and change the rules in the dating game. What booty-hustler ever expects to be shouted at, The vagina bar is closed Subsequently, she feels empowered. Nevertheless, her lonely heart still yearns for true love. Just when she has given up all hope her blessing comes in the form of an invitation to attend a singles party. Among a smorgasbord of available bachelors is Sterling Cole, a downright attractive gentleman, who could have any woman he wants. But it is only her who is pulling on his heartstring. He stops breathing when she boldly announces that the vagina bar is closed. No sooner had the words rolled off her lips did steaming waves of pulsating desire roll through her veins. She soon finds herself struggling to stick to her own rules. Would she stand firm, or would the chemistry between them melt the walls of her heart and cause her to forfeit the one thing shes been fighting to protect the most, besides her heart]her precious vagina bar?
