When at age fifty-one, Joshua Éclair emerges from amnesia in a hospital in Montreal, he must explore what makes him want to erase his identity; in the painful process that follows he is forced to confront his past and learns to forgive. This is the gripping story of a man's search for sanity set in the fictional Caribbean island of Isabella and the various places Joshua has fled to. This is a brilliant, finely accomplished, and intensely moving novel about a very modern predicament: the malformed dysfunctional identity in the global village.
