This new text provides the latest information on over-the-counter and prescription medications commonly used in athletics. It will help the reader review pharmacodynamics and pharmacokinetic principles and keep informed of the advances in a variety of medications for infections, skin conditions, pain and inflammation. The text has been expanded to include medications for diabetes and respiratory, gastrointestinal, circulatory and neurological conditions. It also includes numerous charts to give easy access to the indications, contraindications, side effects and adverse reactions for each type of medication. The new online course format features interactive case studies of virtual athletes to help apply knowledge of the various medications.
