The four plays in this volume formed the centrepiece of the inaugural HighTide Festival in Halesworth, Suffolk, in 2007. Developing plays from the first draft to first performance, HighTide is the first new-writing theatre festival to focus on exclusively on young artists. The volume has a preface by Bill Nibhy. You Were After Poetry by Steven BloomerA fast-paced and witty relationship comedy showing a couple's break-up and its after-effects. Lyre by Megan WalshA harp takes centre stage in this beautiful tale of an uncomfortably close brother and sister. Ned and Sharon by Sam HolcroftA story of love and tenderness about a troubled teenager in a care home. Weightless by Sarah CuddonAn exquisitely imagined account of the first female British astronaut's selection and journey into space.
