This introduction discusses Christianity as it is globally widespread and locally rooted. Structured by geographical region, covering Europe, Africa, North America, Latin America and Asia, this guide is designed to explore the varied expressions of Christianity worldwide and the relations between them. Clearly organized and comprehensive, it deals with four dimensions of Christianity in each context: history, churches and society, inter-religious relations, distinctive worship and theology. This is the perfect text for anyone who wants to understand the largest of faiths on the world stage.
