This anthology consists of 32 essays by writers such as Mark Doty, Robin Hemley, Sydney Lea, Bret Lott, Victoria Redel, Sue William Silverman, David Wojahn, and Xu Xi. As this list suggests, the anthology is a cross-genre one. Of the 32 essays included, 16 focus predominately on prose, ten on fiction, six on creative nonfiction, and 16 on poetry. However, many of the essays address more than one genre, so no matter which genre a reader of the anthology might specialize in, he or she would find an abundance of advice appropriate to that genre.
