For the first time in publication, US artist Joseph Kosuth presents "At Last I Thought I Understood (Madrid)". Curated by Christian Domingue, this project represents a continuation of Kosuth's ground breaking installations and marks the beginning of a new series. This specially created installation features groups of luminous texts taken from works by the Latin American authors Jorge Luis Borges, Julio Cortazar and Juan Carlos Onetti. Kosuth also presents the project "Located Work (Madrid)", created in collaboration with Mario Aguirre, Alexander Apostol, Busto Bocanegra, Sandra Gamarra, Hisae Ikenaga and Ximena Labra.
