This encyclopedia features more than 270 alphabetically arranged entries that survey the lives and works of Asian American authors. Dating back to the close of the 19th century, Asian American literature grew enormously in quantity and richness in the years following World War II. Covering the period from the late 1890s through 2007, this encyclopedia surveys the vast realm of Asian American literature. Within its pages are more than 270 alphabetically arranged entries on writers, major works, themes, genres, events, and special topics, presented in historical, cultural, political, social, and international contexts. Each entry is written by an expert contributor and cites works for further reading, while the encyclopedia closes with a bibliography of print and electronic resources to foster student research. Included are entries on: Afghan American Literature; Angel Island; Asian American Political Activism; Biraciality; Carlos Bulosan; Chinese Exclusion Act (1882); Feminism and Asian America; Graphic Novel; David Henry Hwang; Daniel K. Inouye; Iranian American Literature; Japanese American Internment; The Joy Luck Club; Richard Kim; Korean American Adoptee Literature; Evelyn Lau; Lesbian Literature; National Origins Act of 1924; Michael Ondaatje; Racism and Asian America; and many more.
