Will your kids experience the joy of abundance or the devastation of debt? Discover a win-win approach: Your Children win because they will learn how to solve their own problems while gaining the confidence and capability they will need to meet life's financial challenges. And you will win because you will establish healthy control now - without resorting to anger or threats; and without the guilt of having to rescue them later when they should be financially independent. Learn how to: put an end to the constant begging to buy; deal with ungrateful kids or overindulgent relatives; teach personal responsibility and financial responsibility at the same time; use allowance to teach kids to spend, earn, borrow, save, share and invest wisely; and, prepare your children for the global economy they will inherit!
