Life is not fair, but then again who said it would be? This is a true story of how a tragedy brought about a discovery of a dream, proving that while life may be unfair, there are always opportunities awaiting. 'Horses have always been a part of my life, even through the times without them the memories of my ponies, Sooty and Tom have lingered. I just needed to find the horse that was meant to be with me.' Melita, an ex racehorse with some issues, touched Kate's heart and changed her life forever. Sparking a determination to train horses using positive reinforcement, Melita with her fiery, spirited nature, was a perfect candidate who blossomed under this comparative 'new' training technique. Her death following a road crash left kate devastated and so began the journey to find answers to life's unfairness, an inward search that has ultimately lead to a renewed passion for life and some remarkable experiences with some special people and incredible horses.
