This is the story of two star-crossed lovers who meet early on in life but are unable to re-connect until much later in life. Andrea Faust is a world-class attorney and judge who is haunted by her father's disapproval that she was not born as his son. With a long family history in law enforcement, Andrea struggles to find a way to keep the family calling going, while still trying to find acceptance from her father. Alexander Fenmore is a wealthy shipping magnate from Australia who was a Silver Medalist in boxing, World War II ace, and descended from wealth. Married, divorced, and challenged by the his workers' union, he finally reconnects with Andrea on a chance encounter. Andrea and Alexander meet in a hospital, and the sparks fly instantly. It takes several decades and two lifetimes apart, during which neither forgets their earlier meeting, for them to meet up again. Andrea and Alexander will make you laugh, cry, and cheer. For true loves wins the day.
