Red Hat Enterprise Linux 3 is the premier operating system for open source computing, it creates a reliable, secure, high performance platform designed for today's commercial environments. Since its product launch in February 2004, RHEL 3 has maintained a 90% retention rate for its subscribers and expects nearly 44,000 new users. As the new 'corporate Linux standard', many analysts see RHEL 3 as the preferred operating system for businesses and governments who choose to move towards Linux.
