In Fragrant Harbour the authors tell the story of Hong Kong from the occupation of the thinly populated, barren island by the British in 1841 to the present, which finds Hong Kong an important industrial centre inhabited by over three million people. This book traces the development of a community from very unpromising beginnings and describes the important part Hong Kong has played in making a cultural bridge between China and the West.

在家發現1962年的舊書，想不到這裡也能找到。豆瓣真牛！
上世紀60年代的中三、中四課本，寫的不錯。
