Atlas Monographs is a compression of eight travel journals, beginning with Pam's most recent work (Karakoram 2006) and shifting back through the decades to his first journals begun in 1970. The journals map, through text, photo and marks on paper his engagement with the cultures he has travelled through. Just as importantly, the journals provided the engine room for his development as a photographer and a writer and an artist.

Max Pam is one of Australia's most important contemporary photographers. Working as a professional since the early 1970s he is among a handful of Australians to make a substantial impact on the intensely competitive international photographic scene.

His success is based on a body of provocative and compellingly intimate images of people from all over the world. Over the last 30 or so years, he has not swayed with the vagaries of artistic fashion but has retained his commitment to the power of photography to produce a space of exchange between subject, viewer and photographer. By staying true to himself, he has developed one of the most coherent and stimulating bodies of work in world photography today.

Just as importantly, the journals also provided the engine room for Pam's development as a photographer, a writer and an artist. In many ways, the book represents a travel diary, or as Pam describes it, 'The book makes the journey with me and has an immediacy and freshness that only the intensity of travelling alone can create.'

Overall, this substantial publication with notes gives an emotional, sometimes lyrical, sometimes provocative, always intimate portrait of the artist as much as the people and places he has witnessed.

Max
Pam和共和国一样49年的人，但是太会玩了！本书是他在也门、马达加斯的旅行日志，个人化的叙事里有很多裸女照和神怪故事、艳遇，自然是他自己的兴趣（他在前言中说自己特别喜欢16世纪中国R级小说《金瓶梅》）书里手绘、文字和照片交织在一起，五颜六色的胶片手写字和图画混排绕排并排……总之帅呆。老头子个人网站上的自我介绍还是扒了维基百科。
