An elderly butler is on a five-day motoring trip through the West Country in the 1950s. The climax of his journey is to be a reunion with his former housekeeper. This 1989 Booker Prize-winner attempts to capture a period in British history and draw a portrait of a man in old age.

无法阻止《唐顿庄园》乱入...

第一次看日本人拿英文写的小说。

读完我还是不明白为什么一个在外人看来极其无聊的职业和主人公半辈子毫无大起大落的年月竟然能被写得这么耐人寻味。

语言非常优雅，叙事上很有日本人的克制（或是一个管家职业性的克制？），常常是点到为止，知道重要的事就在幕后却不将幕帷拉开。很妙。

envisioning Mr. Carson while reading.

One has served humanity by serving a great gentleman. Stevens spends his whole life providing his best to Lord Darlington. It is certainly not his fault to prevent his lordship from misjudgment about the great affairs. 但终究是错付了。。。

怎么看都会想到唐顿庄园，石黑一雄已经几乎脱离了日本人的叙事习气，感谢Dr. Mark Buck。
