The foibles of the people in Jill McCorkle's world are so familiar that we want nothing so much as to watch them walk into;^a and then get out of;^a life;⁻ s inevitable traps. Here, in her first collection in eight years, McCorkle collects eleven brand-new stories bristling with her characteristic combination of wit and weight.

In honeymoon shoes, mud-covered hunting boots, or glass slippers, all of the women in these stories march to a place of new awareness, in one way or another, transforming their lives. They make mistakes, but they don;⁻ t waste time hiding behind them. They move on. They are strong. And they;⁻ re funny, even when they are sad.

These stories are the work of a great storyteller who knows exactly how;^a and why;^a to pair pain with laughter.
