In the storytelling tradition of Michael Crichton, Robin Cook and Michael Palmer, Michael Braverman's Darwin's Tears adds another exciting voice to the medical-political thriller genre.

The disappearance of a Federal BIA medical agent and the death of a young girl, brutally and tragically deformed by bizarre medical experimentation, leads former Georgetown pediatrician, Dr. Nathaniel Garland, on a deadly hunt for the perpetrators. His quest takes him from the hidden corners of Arkansas to the power corridors of Washington as he uncovers a conspiracy of unimaginable horror.
