Off the Indonesian coast, a 747 plunges into the Pacific Ocean, leaving a handful of survivors that wash ashore onto a deserted island. Unbeknownst to them, the island is home to a secret genetics lab where Dr. Peter Carlson has attempted to resurrect a long-extinct mammal. But something has gone horribly wrong and soon they realize that surviving the plane crash was the easy part. Something more sinister than anything they could have imagined is stalking them. And it is determined to see that no one makes it off the island alive.
