Adman Ben Shilling receives a mysterious email accusing him of being a murderer! On our way to discovering what that email is all about we enter Ben's world of crazy clients, offbeat creative people, and a host of other memorable characters. When Andy Wasowski was two months old, the Nazis dropped bombs on him. He believes this experience prepared him for a career in advertising. During his years in the ad biz, he worked for top agencies in LA, New York and Dallas. His numerous creative awards include a Clio, advertising's Oscar.
