Meeting Gabe had seemed like an ordinary event. I didn't know that it would change my life. At first he seemed to be an ordinary old man, then a bit eccentric. Before long I thought that he might even be crazy. Did he really know Einstein, Joseph Campbell, Aldous Huxley and the others that he had claimed to have had conversations with? What about his interest in the music of John Lennon and the Beatles? What was all of this talk about a hidden language? He had already boggled my mind with that and now this Could it all be true?
