This book was written to dazzle children ages 3 (with the assistance of their parents) through 10 years. This is an adventure book, but it is also an entertaining and educational book about two newly born coyotes that explore their world through the author's imagination. The book is very interesting and extraordinary because throughout it the author is constantly encouraging interaction from the reader by asking "Guess What" questions and making "Did You Know" statements about the different characters and animals in the book. The author gives factual details about animals, which helps the reader learn things he/she may not already know. The facts learned from the book can be shared with friends, schoolmates, relatives, or can be brought up in casual conversations. The reader will follow Byron and Max, the two main characters in the book, in and out of difficult situations and eventually learn a valuable lesson we all can agree upon. As an added bonus, the author has incorporated illustrated pictures of characters in the book to be colored by the little ones.
