First published in 1975 and still without equal, this anthology provides a thorough overview of the concept of time in the Western philosophic tradition. Encompassing a wide range of writings, from the Book of Genesis to the work of twentieth-century philosophers such as Collingwood and McKeon, all with introductory essays by editor Charles M. Sherover, The Human Experience of Time offers a synoptic view of the changing philosophic notions of time. Updated, expanded, and with a new introduction by the editor, this volume is not only a historical overview but also a dialectical analysis displaying the diverse approaches to the continuing philosophic exploration of time.
