It is undeniable that the exercise of a creative power, that a free creative activity, is the true function of man; it is proved to be so by man's finding in it his true happiness. But it is un- deniable, also, that men may have the sense of exercising this free creative activity in other ways than in producing great works of literature or art; if it were not so, all but a very few men would be shut out from the true happiness of all men.

评论

Arnold的文总是开头十分惊艳慢慢就有点出戏。直接抨击一向很精彩，举例则多显得个人化，像anecdote有点娱乐性质。极度理想主义和狭隘定义／划界流失了不少说理的力量，总把自己逼到一个不利位置。但阅读Arnold是基础，且同样的几篇重看多少次都不算多。
