Master the one skill that can make or break you as a forex trader--emotional discipline. It took more than 10 years for Jared Martinez, founder of Market Traders Institute, to discover that successful trading requires ten percent skill and 90 percent emotional management. Now, in The Forex Mindset, Martinez shares his secrets with you. Everyone handles different situations differently. Martinez doesn't offer a "silver bullet" approach. Rather, he walks you through the steps necessary for discovering your own psychological strengths and weaknesses; how you naturally behave in times of financial crisis; and techniques for refocusing your goals according to specific pressures. Even the most technically brilliant traders are doomed to eventually fail if they don't master their emotions. If you want to make a living from forex trading, apply the lessons in The Forex Mindset and you're already 90 percent there!
